QUESTION!

Dear Friends,

As people share their feelings and thoughts, life becomes more meaningful. Listening, understanding, interpreting and evaluating are human characteristics. Today's people tend to live in a single direction, focused on themselves. The egoic swelling problems and self-centered approaches of the system and today's society unfortunately cause us to miss the true meaning of life. While some of us struggle with home and child problems, some of us have lost ourselves struggling with work stress. No matter what duty, status or position we are in, the requirement of being human is to think, question our existence and develop a constructive perspective on life. In short, it is to find the purpose of our personal existence. There is no doubt that every being is created to reveal actions in the direction destined for them. Realizing this, reasoning and acting with awareness of this will undoubtedly add the greatest value to a person. We have to understand who we are, where we came from and where we are heading, why we are subject to the current situation and events we encounter. Therefore, we should question what is presented to us as reality, whether what we are experiencing is a dream or not. We should understand the importance of the power of thought and investigate the reason for our coming to this world as a human being. Because in our Glorious Book, the Quran, people are warned and awakened by asking dozens of verses such as, "Will you still not reason?" We should investigate issues such as death, universal consciousness, reality, imagination, unity consciousness, dhikr, manifestation and reach satisfactory results for ourselves, or at least we should be in need of this. Otherwise, we will not be able to go beyond being an unconscious being. We will perhaps condemn ourselves to remain below the low...

Our century will be the century of people who question, who go beyond conditioning and discover themselves. This is not a prophecy, it is just a reflection of humanity's collective consciousness. Sharing in knowledge has reached incredible dimensions. Especially the equal sharing in knowledge provided by the internet system will be fed with new formations, and perhaps we will be able to enter the era of instant telepathic nonverbal communication. Who can deny this? Studies are in this direction. Now, people are rediscovering the power they possess every day and blending all old and new methods to increase this power even more. We have already entered a period where knowledge will be considered power and skill. Awareness, holographic consciousness, quantum thought techniques, thought signals sent consciously to the subatomic dimension, conscious organization of the universal structure, rabita, dhikr, concepts such as these have started to enter our lives more and more each passing day.

This study is dedicated to all the wise men and friends of the heart who contribute to the sharing of universal knowledge.

QUANTUM UNITY CONSCIOUSNESS

Greetings to a new era... As Mevlana said; new things need to be said and implemented. We are obliged to re-evaluate and understand the universe and ourselves. Humanity, which has gone through important tests, is struggling with problems. However, the source of these problems is again man himself...

In general, it has become inevitable to reconsider humanity's perspective and approaches. Humanity is surrounded by limitations and conditionings that it has imposed on itself in its subconscious or imposed by other societies. So much so that now, both in the social and individual sense, we have become our own biggest obstacle. We have imprisoned ourselves in certain thought patterns.

Human beings are valuable and unique beings. Due to their structure and characteristics that will provide adaptation and flexibility to infinite dimensions, they have the opportunity to integrate with universal consciousness and perceive oneness. More precisely; it is often enough for them to realize this. Because the human being, whom we call the microcosm (small universe), is also the great universe we call the macrocosm.

The differences lie in the perspectives. There are opposites, but there is never opposition. Moreover, human beings reveal their inherent power in this way, knowingly or unknowingly, by giving rise to new formations with the thoughts they produce. They embark on a journey from themselves to themselves in infinite dimensions and towards what is destined for them in the spiral of thinking, creating and living.

Both our “macro” quality and the entire universe that we call “micro” are subject to the same laws of the same system. The law of action-reaction is one of the most obvious laws. The saying “You reap what you sow” always points to this. As will be stated in our other articles, the process that starts with knowledge and thoughts continues, along infinite spirals...

According to the law of action-reaction, one of the basic laws, everything finds its response. No effect remains without reaction. All emotions, thoughts and existences within a universal structure occur within the framework of this law. According to this law, the troubles, crises, deadlocks and contradictions that we, humans in particular, experience in the world are like the children of this law. Humanity, which does not benefit from nature and the things on earth, all beings that serve humanity, in accordance with the purpose of creation, continues to disrupt all balances every passing day. Due to the law of action and reaction, it is harmed by this situation every day, but it does not want to see it.

On the other hand; the negative thought patterns that humanity has collectively formed have seriously begun to deeply affect all communities and are increasing their speed every passing day. People are seriously harming each other. The universal structure in the intellectual dimension continues to wound itself. We have to become conscious and reconsider our virtues one by one.

We must tell the truth and always be on the side of truth, we should not gossip about anyone, we should help each other at all costs. We should love each other, stay away from grudges and hatred, and live in tolerance. We should strongly avoid breaking hearts. We should share our knowledge and want the good of everyone. We should constantly produce beautiful words and thoughts and put these ideas into practice. In short, we should work to make each day better than the previous day in this sense. Because we have to and we have no other alternative...

"I will speak to you without tongues or lips,

I will speak of things hidden from all ears.

I will speak these words to you in front of everyone,

But no ear other than yours will hear these words,

No one will understand."

Hz. Mevlana
